

PLUMMER WILL GET THE LEMON

Republican Managers Decide to Force Nomination on Doctor.

CANDIDATE IS UNWILLING

PLANS ARE TO USE FORCE, IF NECESSARY.

Dr. C. G. Plummer will be the Republican nominee for mayor, if he will only give his consent. The indications last night were that he would be nominated, even if he continued to protest. The men who make Republican candidates were all for Plummer yesterday. They were busy seeking and instructing delegates so that the convention formally might not go awry. Some delegates were told that Plummer had agreed to make the race, but this is entirely erroneous, according to the man most directly concerned. "I have been repeatedly asked to allow my name to go before the convention," said Dr. Plummer last evening, "but I have refused up to this time to consider the proposition." When asked if any circumstances might arise which would change his decision, he said that he had given the matter careful consideration and had been unable to see how he could accept.

A Vexed Problem.

The Plummer boom became a real, vital force in the Republican party yesterday. Senator Smoot's local lieutenants have been casting about for weeks for an available candidate. They have discussed the problem informally on the streets, and formally in committee meetings. At a city committee meeting held last week the definition of an ideal Republican candidate for mayor this year was agreed upon after a struggle, in which much language was used. It was agreed that the candidate must be a Gentle, with no church affiliations of any sort. This decision eliminated all Mormons and George T. Odell and W. F. James, both of whom have business associations with the "hierarchy." It was supposed at the time that Dr. A. S. Bower would receive the nomination, but Dr. Bower was afraid the Republican plans might miscarry. Anyway, he don't want and wouldn't have the nomination.

An Unwilling Victim.

It is several days since the original Plummer man evolved his idea. Since then other Republicans, who are Gentiles, have taken up a labor to convince Dr. Plummer that he would make an ideal candidate. Dr. Plummer was willing to concede all they said about his availability and fitness, and even went so far as to modestly admit he probably would be elected. But he kept on insisting that he didn't want the nomination; he assured his friends he desired the election still less. This was the situation last night when Dr. Plummer is a member of the board of regents of the state university and is state representative of the Amateur Athletic Union, under whose rules it is understood he will make his race for the mayoralty.

GRAND JURY TO ASSEMBLE OCT. 7

Judge Armstrong Disperses Rumors That Inquiry Has Been Squelched.

SAYS NOTHING CAN STOP IT

LOOFBOUROW AND BREEDEN GET SIGNIFICANT TESTIMONY.

The grand jury which is to investigate the present abnormal cost of living will probably be called together by Judge George G. Armstrong of the district court, Oct. 7. This fact was made public yesterday by the judge, who dispelled the persistent rumors that the grand jury investigation had been called off. In this connection he said: "The grand jury has already been drawn and it must meet. Nothing can stop it. The delay in calling it together has been due to the necessity of business in the criminal branch of the district court. The district attorney, who must conduct the examination of witnesses before the jury and must be continually with it, has his hands full now disposing of the criminal calendar, and in my judgment it will be Oct. 7, before either he or the court will be able to handle a grand jury. That date has not been determined upon absolutely as the date for calling the jury, but I think that it will be asked to assemble then if the calendar is sufficiently clear."

Loofbourow Has Affidavits.

Frederick C. Loofbourow, district attorney, has already stated that it would be impossible for him to take care of the grand jury until the first part of October. Although he has not had much time to look into the evidence against the so-called food trust, it is understood that he has already secured a number of significant affidavits and is looking for more evidence along the same line. At present he is engaged in arguing the Sheets case and his preparation for this, together with the McNeven trial, has taken up most of his time since the call for the grand jury was issued by the district court.

M. A. Breeden, Attorney General, is still at work collecting evidence and is being aided in his quest by the Real Estate association and other organizations interested in the problem of cheap foodstuffs.

When the jury meets it will be charged by Judge Armstrong as to its duties and will immediately take up the investigation which will be the grand jury's task. After this is completed it can take up any other line of probing which it deems expedient.

DALY COMES FACE TO FACE WITH MAN WHO ACCUSED HIM OF SHADY DEAL

After nearly a year, Assistant City Attorney P. J. Daly came face to face yesterday afternoon in the police court building with Pete Olsen, the man who signed an affidavit charging Mr. Daly with having attempted to "shake him down" for $50 in the check transaction in which Lawyer Newton is now on the ground. Time had not cooled Mr. Daly's indignation. On catching sight of Olsen, he at once halted him, and in language of unmistakable force, demanded to know how and why Olsen had come to sign such an affidavit. Olsen was frightened. For a moment he stammered incoherently, and then, as the angry assistant city attorney insisted upon an explanation, he said shamefacedly that it was all a mistake and that he did not know what he was doing. This did not satisfy Daly. He wanted further particulars. "Well," said Olsen, "it was this way: A man came to me with an affidavit and said he wanted me to sign it."

THIEVES LOOT BARBER SHOP

Matthew T. Lyon's Place on Main Street Broken Into and Thoroughly Ransacked.

Thieves broke into the barber shop of Matthew T. Lyon, in the basement of the Templeton block, Main and South Temple streets, some time during Tuesday night or before daylight yesterday morning, and carried off property worth about $75. The thieves entered the shop by breaking a pane of glass in the door and then reaching in and turning the Yale lock.

The place was then ransacked in a most leisurely and thorough manner. The entire kit of tools of several of the journeymen barbers were carried off, as well as a quantity of clothing that had been left hanging in the place. When Mr. Lyon's little boy went to the shop last night, he found that the robbery was discovered. At that time the shop had a wrecked appearance but was soon put in working order again, after Mr. Lyon and his staff had skrimished about for razors, strops and other supplies to replace those carried off by the thieves.

POLICE COURT GLIMPSES.

Caesar Brum, saloonkeeper at No. 156 West South Temple, was before Judge Doherty yesterday charged by Policeman Morris Lyon with having violated the saloon ordinance in having permitted women to frequent his place. He explained that it disappeared from his possession almost immediately afterward. A negro woman was arrested for the theft. But the subsequent history of the check was so involved that the matter still occupies the attention of the courts.

Olsen, during the early stages of the check investigation, signed an affidavit alleging that Mr. Daly offered to recover the check for him for a consideration of $50.

During all the intervening time he managed to keep out of sight of the assistant city attorney, but when cornered yesterday was too frightened to maintain the truth of his accusation.

Cal Summers, bartender, who is accused of having brutally beaten his wife, Dana T. Smith, yesterday pleaded guilty to a trial under $300 bonds. Assistant City Attorney Daly stated that Mrs. Summers, whom Summers is accused of having dragged from her bed by the hair of her head, is still in an unconscious condition.

The case of Pete Smith, accused of having sold liquor to 15-year-old boys, in the county jail in the hope that streets was continued until Oct. 2 in the police court yesterday, one of the boys having met with an accident which made it impossible for him to appear in the court and give his testimony.

D. S. Brown, an inmate of the county infirmary, was before Justice of the Peace John G. Gaston, who is a representative of the western congress as a representative of President Andy Stahl of Denver. Los Angeles has made a bid for the congress for next season and Gaston intends to make definite arrangements with the bowlers of that city to handle the next tournament, if possible.

Kansas City is also after the congress, but it is a question with the directors of the W. B. C. whether the event should not go to the coast. Salt Lake bowlers would prefer Los Angeles to Kansas City, as it is closer. The same conditions exist in all the other big western cities, and for this reason it is believed Los Angeles will get the meeting.

FAMOUS BAD MAN REFUSES TO TALK

"Gunplay" Maxwell Declines to Make Any Statement With Reference to Pistol Duel.

DOESN'T LOOK DANGEROUS

REIDEL WILL PROBABLY RECOVER FROM HIS WOUNDS.

"I've had a dirty deal from the papers and everyone else concerned in that shooting scrape, but the right of the matter will come out in time, that's all I've got to say."

This is the way Charles L. Bliss, better known as "Gunplay" Maxwell, the man who shot and dangerously wounded L. C. Reidel, a fireman for the Rio Grande, in a shooting duel in a saloon at Helper Sunday morning, feels over the fracas that has resulted in a badly wounded arm and shoulder for Maxwell and a dangerous wound for Reidel.

"Gunplay" was eating lunch at a Main street restaurant last night at 10 o'clock when seen by The Herald. His right arm in a sling and bandaged with casts and cloths, his nose decorated with a long, ugly looking scratch and his right cheek in the same condition, while he had to eat with his left hand he looked anything but a "bad man," the appellation commonly applied to him by Carbon county residents.

"No, I won't talk," was his gruff answer to a request for a statement of his idea of the fight. "You fellows seem to be able to write enough without my talking, so I'll shut up and let you talk." This while he bent over his plate and ate.

Brands It All as Lies.

"Has anything been printed about your part in the fight that isn't true?" was the next question. "Huh, there hasn't been anything printed that is true," he answered, and squared around to face his questioner. "You could pass Maxwell a dozen times an hour and would never notice him. He looks anything but a gun man. He's tall and thin, stoop-shouldered, has dark hair and sharp black eyes. Last night as he looked out from under the rim of his big black hat he appeared disappointingly docile and meek. The scratch on his nose and on his cheek, with the loss of weight as a result of his wound, give him rather a distinctive aspect at present, but that is all."

"Gun Play" Is Taciturn.

"Don't you want to make some statement correcting what you think has been printed and is untrue?" "It's all untrue, and when the time comes you'll find out all you want to know, all right," was "Gunplay's" answer.

"Gunplay's" right arm is paralyzed from the wound in his shoulder. His eyes look hollow and sunken. He greeted expressively when the newspaper men approached him in the restaurant last night, and paid as little attention to them as possible.

Reidel Is Better.

L. T. Reidel, the victim of "Gunplay" Maxwell, was in much better condition last evening than at any time since the shooting. His chances for recovery are considered good. County Attorney Levi N. Harmon of Carbon county, who interviewed Reidel at St. Mark's hospital Tuesday evening, returned to Carbon county yesterday afternoon, satisfied with the evidence he secured.

CONGRESS FOR LOS ANGELES

Denver Bowler Is Here on Way to Coast Looking After W. B. C. Interests.

John G. Gaston, the well-known Denver bowler, who led the Denver crowd of bowlers in Salt Lake at the western bowling congress two years ago, is in the city on his way to the coast. Gaston spent a great part of yesterday visiting local bowlers. He leaves tonight for Los Angeles, where he goes in the interest of the western congress as a representative of President Andy Stahl of Denver. Los Angeles has made a bid for the congress for next season and Gaston intends to make definite arrangements with the bowlers of that city to handle the next tournament, if possible.

JUDGE LANGAN TOOK JUST 23 MINUTES IN WHICH TO GRANT STANTON DIVORCE

Reports from the Stanton divorce case from Goldfield show that the court considered that Blanche Nye Stanton, 16, had such good grounds for eliminating Major W. A. Stanton, 64, from her existence that the trial took only twenty-three minutes. As a matter of fact, it is clearly demonstrated that the major, 64, came mighty near being jailed for wife beating. That is a pretty serious crime in Nevada, where wives are luxuries. Mrs. Nye, 16, went on the stand in support of her complaint and testified that the major, 64, beat her up, called her names, swiped her clothes and made a general nuisance of himself around the Stanton, 64 and 15, premises; one hesitates to call it a home.

The case was tried before Judge Langan at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon, a time at which there are very few spectators around the court house. Such as were loafing around were encouraged to go elsewhere to one or other of the many places of entertainment which that enterprising city affords. Mrs. Stanton took the stand in her own behalf. She swore that she was 16, married at Ocean Park Aug. 5, lived there a few weeks, came to Goldfield, lived there up to the present time.

Mrs. Stanton, 16, was greatly embarrassed on the witness stand, and answered the questions put to her with the greatest reluctance. After beating about the bush to find out what she had in support of her bill, which she directly been filed, she developed this schedule and then proceeded to elaborate it.

The Matrimonial Schedule.

Aug. 5, married.
Aug. 9, major abstracted her clothes.
Aug. 24, major called Mrs. a beast.
Aug. 24, Mrs. ran away.
Aug. 24, Mrs. came back.
Aug. 24, major seemed angry.
Sept. 10, major beat up Mrs.
Sept. 10, major threw lamp chimney at Mrs.
Sept. 10, major was generally objectionable.

In development of the detail of her schedule of her husband's delinquencies, Mrs. Stanton told a pretty story. This was supported by the evidence of her mother and of Dr. Van Wedelstad, the other witness. The major was not in court to hear his biography from his wife's viewpoint. Mrs. Stanton got her divorce and her maiden name, Blanche Nye, restored to her. No alimony was asked for.

TIME OF THE MOVE.

Tenants of the Utah Savings & Trust Company Occupying Their New and Beautiful Quarters.

With the exception of the elevator enclosure, which it will take two or three days to install, the fine new building of the Utah Savings & Trust company, No. 235 Main street, is completed. Many of the tenants are now moving in, and the interior of the building presents a scene of bustle and activity.

For beauty, elegance and convenience the offices in this building are not equalled in the city, and the tenants, most of whom secured their rooms months ago, are surprised and delighted.

The big banking room is not yet ready for occupancy owing to a delay in the eastern marble works where the marble is being saved and prepared, but it is believed that another month will see the Utah Savings & Trust company safely installed in its new and beautiful home.

It will be remembered that this is the bank that pays 4 per cent on savings deposits and time certificates.
